Information for patients

You are being invited to take part in a research database . Before you accept or decline the invitation, it is important for you for to understand why the research is being done and what it will involve. Please read the following information and discuss it with relatives, friends and your GP, if you wish. If there is anything that is not clear, or if you have any further questions, please ask us (our contact details are printed on page 3).

Take time to decide whether you would like to take part, or not.

You are being invited to take part in this research database because you have a rare neuromuscular disease known as Facioscapulohumeral Dystrophy (FSHD) and we are trying to get more information on patients, like you, with this condition.

The aim of this research is to establish a database, which will be computer record containing information about you and your condition. Having a computer database of patients with FSHD means that we can easily find groups of patients from all over the UK, who may be able to take part in clinical trials to help, develop new treatments. The database will contain all the information that researchers will need, including each patient's diagnosis and other key details of their disease. The TREAT-NMD Alliance which is coordinated in Newcastle and the Medical Research Council Centre for Neuromuscular Disease (Newcastle), are working together on this database project in the UK. The project is supported by patient groups such as the Muscular Dystrophy Campaign as well as many health professionals across the UK.

Before you consider registering your details, it is important that you understand what is involved and what will be done with the information you provide. This form contains answers to some of the questions you might have on the database. At the end of the form, and after you have had some time to think about it, we shall ask if you wish to register. If you do, we shall ask you to sign a consent form saying that you agree to join. If you have any questions please contact us before signing the consent form (contact details on page3).

How will I benefit from registering?

This database aims to benefit patients living with FSHD. We will make contact with you when we are able to offer new treatments for your condition or to ask you to help assess possible new treatments (clinical trials). By holding secure records of your clinical details we will be able to decide whether or not such trials would be suitable for you. You will not receive any payment or any other financial benefit as a result of joining the database. The results of research arising from the database may have business potential (if for example utilised by a pharmaceutical company to develop a new drug) but you will not receive financial benefits from such development. Nevertheless, there may be other benefits to joining, including the following:

- We will inform you about suitable clinical trials that you might wish to join.
- If you wish, we will update you on any new developments on your condition.
- The details collected will also provide information for doctors interested in the best standards of care for your disease.

I want to be involved in a clinical trial. If I register, is this guaranteed?

No. Although one of the main aims of this database is to make it easier for patients to be recruited for clinical trials, there is no guarantee that registering your details will mean you will be automatically approached to take part in a clinical trial. Doctors organizing a clinical trial will review the details you have given and if the trial appears to be suitable for you they will invite you to join. All patients invited to join a particular trial will then be assessed in greater detail and at this stage it may be clear that other developments in your health or details not recorded on the database mean that the trial is not a suitable one for you.

Will information about me be kept confidential?

All information we receive from you will be treated confidentially. The information will be converted into code and stored on a secure computer located at Munich University. We make every effort to ensure your data is kept safe but we remind you to be vigilant when entering information online. Details of your specific diagnosis as well as personal information (name, age, address, gender) will be stored on the database. This information is all required to enable us to match you with the criteria, however only members of Prof Lochmüller's team given specific permission by him, will be allowed to look at this information. If we publish any research or other documents based on information from the database, this will not identify you by name.

Do I have to join the database and can I withdraw if I change my mind?

Joining the database is voluntary. Should you wish to withdraw your information from the database you will be free to do so at any time without having to provide any explanation. If you wish to withdraw, you should get in touch with the staff in charge of the database. Contact details are provided below. Joining or leaving the database will in no way affect the care you receive for your condition.

How will my details be updated?

You will be able to update your details via the web page. We will also ask you for updated information at clinic visits. You can contact us at any time if you need to amend your details. We will also ask you at each clinical visit if you are still happy to have your details included on the database. You are free to have your information withdrawn from the database at any time.

We will also ask you about the person in charge of your medical care so we can contact them for more specialist information.

Who is funding the research?

The project is being supported by the MRC centre and the TREAT-NMD Alliance. The Muscular Dystrophy Campaign are funding the initial development of the UK FSHD Patient Registry. Professor Lochmüller's will not receive any direct (or indirect) payment for adding your details to the database.

Who has reviewed this project?

All research conducted within the NHS has to be reviewed by an ethics committee to make sure we are not doing anything harmful to you or your data in this project.

This research has been reviewed by North East – Newcastle and North Tyneside 1 Research Ethics Committee who have decided they are happy for us to go ahead with the study.

What if I have any concerns?
